Down on the Farm Notes

Please refrigerate all produce as soon as possible.

It is fun to work on a farm because there is always something new to try in fruits and veggies. Because of our growing season, we are able to grow several varieties of each item.

Many people know Fallon for our Heart of Gold Cantaloupe. In fact, during the Labor Day Weekend, September 5-7th, we will be having our Cantaloupe Festival. It is a celebration dedicated to all things cantaloupe. It's main attraction is our Hearts of Gold cantaloupe. But that is just the tip of the iceberg.

We actually grow several varieties of melons. In the cantaloupe/honeydew melons alone we have around 10 varieties. Watermelon? We have 6 varieties. We try to have a different taste for all of our customers.

Why stop at the melons? We grow peppers, eggplant, summer squash, cucumbers, and tomatoes. Of these, we grow several different varieties of each. We love to try the different varieties, many of which are not found in the local grocery store.

In my years here, I have learned to try the new vegetables and fruits. Many times I am surprised when I challenge the preconceived notions. Before working here I have thought a tomato is a tomato. I now have a favorite cherry tomato (the Sun Gold). My favorite cantaloupe is not the Heart of Gold, but the Sarah's Choice. I never thought I liked honeydew until I tried our Yellow Canary.

If you find that there is something that you are not quite sure of, just give it a try. Sometimes, testing our boundaries brings us greater satisfaction. With that being said, you will have some great produce this week. Including our new Yellow Buttercup Seedless Watermelon. Don't worry about the color, it tastes delicious.

We hope that you too enjoy the different tastes of the basket. It really is a rainbow of produce each variety having its own taste and look. Be adventurous this week and try something new.

Online Store

When's the last time you've looked at our Online Produce Market? We have updated it with a lot of our produce that is available to you. If you would like extra produce, check out our store. There is only a $3 delivery and handling fee. Go to www.lattinfarms.com for more info.
